“One small step for man, one giant leap for mankind.”

-- Neil Armstrong

To take one small step for man,
I will use the refrigerator to defrost the chicken
for dinner instead of running the tap.

To take one small step for man,
I will wash my dog Brownie
and water my front lawn at the same time.

To take one small step for man,
I will catch rainwater from the gutters
and use it to water my plumeria tree.

To take one small step for man,
I will not shower longer than five minutes.

To take one small step for man,
I will only use the tap to rinse the dishes.

To take one small step for man,
I will not let the hose run
when I help my dad wash his car.
